NETWORK AID AFRICA can, shall it feel necessary to, suspend the employee/volunteer in question from duty during the period of investigation subject to the following conditions: -
 - a. Should the employee/volunteer be in a position to tamper with the evidence against him/her.
 - b. Should the employee/volunteer's continuing presence in the organization be deemed inimical to the interest of the organization.

Conflict Management Policy in NETWORK AID AFRICA

1.11 Conflict Management

Management of conflict can be dealt with the head of department within a division among his/her subordinate in a fair, transparent and professional manner. If conflict of interest arose, the head of department shall involve other management employee to manage the conflict and report to the Chief Country Coordinator/Country Coordinator with recommendations.

1.11.1 Conflict Resolution

Whenever a dispute arises among NETWORK AID AFRICA employee, volunteer or intern it shall be resolved in a constructive manner, i.e. the solutions shall lead to positive changes. Employee, volunteer, intern who feel unfairly treated or who have complaints about a situation or about working conditions should notify the Chief Country Coordinator/Country coordinator, Administrative/Human Resource Coordinator or employee/volunteer designated for such purpose immediately.

1.11.2 Employee, Volunteer, Intern Behavior

NETWORK AID AFRICA expects its employee, volunteers, or interns to adopt attitudes and behavior that maintain the good image of the organization. Employee, volunteers or interns shall display an exemplary level of professionalism and integrity. Furthermore, besides the usual rules every good employee, volunteers, interns need to follow (respect, courtesy, punctuality), there are particular procedures of conduct for personnel of the organization which must be observed.

(1) Political Activities

Since NETWORK AID AFRICA is a non-political organization, employee, volunteer, interns shall not participate in activities of a purely political nature on work premises or during working hours. It is also prohibited to use the organization's materials or equipment for these purposes.

(2) Discrimination and Harassment

Under the principles of UN human rights declaration, no employee (volunteer or interns, consultant) man or woman has the right to put pressure on another, make intimate advances, give preferential treatment or show sexual favoritism at work.

(3) Conflict of Interest

To avoid putting themselves in a conflict of interest with the objectives and operations pursued by the organization, employee, volunteers or interns shall respect the following guidelines: -

- i. It is prohibited for any employee/volunteer having confidential information to disclose it without express authorization beforehand.
- ii. It is prohibited to use office property for illegal or unauthorized purposes.
- iii. Employee/volunteers cannot at any time accept a job from another employer if this job interferes with their work schedule and their duties and responsibilities.

- iv. Employee/volunteers shall avoid putting themselves in situations where they may gain profit or derive direct or indirect interest by influencing a contract award.
- v. Employee/volunteers cannot solicit or accept tips, gifts, favors or other forms of gratuities for services rendered or required to be rendered in performing their duties within the organization.

Settling Grievance Policy

1.11.3 Grievances

If an employee/volunteer feels unfairly treated by circumstances that infringe on his/her rights or change his/her employment conditions, he/she should discuss the situation with his/her line coordinator. If, after the matter has been discussed and corrective measures taken, an employee/volunteer feels it has not been satisfactorily settled, he/she can submit a grievance to the Chief Country Coordinator/Country Coordinator, Administrative/Human Resource Coordinator or personnel designated who will discuss and provide appropriate solution. All grievances shall be handled internally because there is no recourse to external mediation or arbitration.

1.12 Performance Evaluation and Skill Training

1.12.1 Performance Evaluation System

The performance evaluation system is a means by which the organization can increase its efficiency and that of its employee/volunteers. The purpose of the system is for the organization to fulfill its mission and vision by attaining its objectives and for employee, volunteers or interns to grow and feel fulfilled through proactive performance supervision. The system enables, among other things, the harmonizing of individual employee, volunteer or intern objectives with those of the organization, the measuring of employee, volunteer or intern potential and work performance and the support of employee, volunteer or intern improvement by working with them on their development needs.

The annual performance evaluation seeks specifically to: -

- i. Promote communication between employee/volunteers and their line coordinator;
- ii. Clarify expectations concerning objectives and performance;
- iii. Improve employee/volunteer performance through on-going monitoring and feedback;
- iv. Assess and reward individual performance;
- v. Allow to express their career aspirations.

The performance evaluation focuses on the individual employee, volunteer or intern in relation to the tasks and responsibilities assigned to him/her. It is not necessarily a comparison of one employee/volunteer's performance with that of another. Thus, the employee/volunteer's work performance is to be assessed in relation to absolute procedures, that is, according to the evaluator's performance criteria and not according to relative procedures.

The performance evaluation also allows the office to assess the quality of human resources in their department or the organization, note important information concerning expectations and need and clarify decisions concerning transfers or work assignments.

Performance Evaluation System Policy for NGOs

1.12.2 Elements of the Performance Evaluation System

A performance evaluation system is composed of three main stages that generally take place over a period of a year: -

(1) Performance planning

The performance planning stage enables employee/volunteers and supervisors to come to an agreement on what is to be accomplished during the year and how it will be carried out. The following procedures and tools are used to facilitate this stage:

a) Job description or list of duties

Each employee/volunteer must have an up-to-date job description defining the purpose of the work and the responsibilities involved.

b) Setting of objectives

For each key responsibility associated with a position, at least one objective should be established for a particular period. The objectives should be clear and quantifiable, and the assessment criteria should be mentioned.

c) Individual action plan

The individual action plan is a planning tool used to specify the steps to be taken to achieve the objectives set beforehand. The action plan should be prepared jointly with the immediate supervisor/line coordinator. It may also involve new initiatives facilitating improved productivity or personal capacity development.

(2) Performance Monitoring and Management

Employee/volunteer performance and productivity should be managed on an on-going basis throughout the year. The following elements, among others, are involved:

a) On-going Supervision

This means taking the time to observe, examine sources of difficulty and seek solutions.

b) Regular Communication

This involves regular exchanges so that employee/volunteers can receive feedback about their performance and receive the necessary supervision.

c) Periodic Evaluation

This involves formal scheduled meetings between an employee/volunteer, volunteer or intern and supervisor to discuss activities carried out, end results and the adjustment of the action plan and objectives, if necessary. A minimum of two meetings every six months is suggested to ensure satisfactory results.

Policy for Annual Performance Evaluation

(3) Annual Performance Evaluation

The annual performance evaluation is the analysis, based on documentation from previous stages of the process, of an employee/volunteer's work record. The evaluation addresses two fundamental questions. The first relates to the past and involves verifying what was accomplished qualitatively and quantitatively during the year. The second relates to the future and consists of identifying means to be considered to ensure the employee/volunteer continues to grow and develop.

The performance evaluation form should include all the sections needed for the evaluation. This includes a section relating to performance evaluation in relation to the objectives established at the outset and in relation to the responsibilities of the position, a section that specifies or targets what is needed for the employee/volunteer's development and finally a section allowing the employee/volunteer and the evaluator to express their comments and affix their respective signatures. The form should also include a performance level classification and a definition of each of these levels.

The annual performance evaluation does not have any financial impact on salaries. It is first and foremost a tool to evaluate the employee/volunteer's performance and take remedial action if necessary.

1.12.3 Skill Training and Professional Development

Depending on available funds, the organization should foster the professional development of its employee/volunteers in order to be as effective as possible in its activities. The training programs chosen should address the actual needs identified and expressed during performance evaluation sessions.

1.13 Legal Bond

As part of the employee/volunteer and organizational development activities, office may at times decide to send a designated employee/volunteer person for trainings and/or further studies both abroad as well as at local level. The office will bear the full/partial costs of the trainings/studies for this. However, the designated employee/volunteer sponsored for the trainings/studies is required to sign a legal bond with the office to work with the organisation after completion of studies and transfer of knowledge.

1.14 Goodwill Ambassadors, Technical Advisory Team Members

Network AID Africa should maintain a non-administrative structure called the goodwill ambassador and technical advisory team. This structure should bear names applicable to the country program i.e. national goodwill ambassador, national technical advisory team member, however a global goodwill ambassador and global technical advisory team member can be setup as well.

1.14.1 Appointment/Selection: these personalities can be appointed/selected from people deem fit by the organisation by the Country Coordinator with the approval of the Chief Country Coordinator. For global, the appointment/selection is done by the Chief Country Coordinator with the approval of the founder Network AID Africa.

1.14.2 Remuneration: the appointment/selection attracted no salary. however, support cost can be provided to support their activities/functions of the organisation within and out of the country. This may include, transportation, refreshment, accommodation, per diem, travel risk allowance.

1.14.3 Tenure: The tenure of the appointment/selection is prerogative of the Country Coordinator and or the Chief Country Coordinator. However, it should not exceed five years in any given time. Member can be reappointment or not after their tenure elapse.

1.14.4 Termination: the appointment/selection can be terminated by the Country Coordinator and or Chief Country Coordinator when bridge any of the organisation policy, principles, vision, mission or his/her personal action is contrary to the organisation. Found guilty of any criminal activities.

1.15 Legal Representative

Network AID Africa as an institution should work towards ensuring having legal representatives for the organisation and its constituents representing or work with to defend, prosecute, advise, represent the organisation and or constituents within and or outside the country. The legal representatives can either be contractual, retention, or pro-bono.

1.15.1 Appointment/Selection: these personalities can be appointed/selected from people deem fit by the organisation by the Country Coordinator with the approval of the Chief Country Coordinator. For global, the appointment/selection is done by the Chief Country Coordinator with the approval of the founder Network AID Africa.

1.15.2 Remuneration: the pro-bono legal representatives attracted no salary. however, support cost can be provided to support their activities/functions of the organisation within and out of the country. This may include, transportation, refreshment, accommodation, per diem, travel risk allowance. For contractual or retention legal representative the organisation and the legal representative may sign an agreement outline the nature and the cost and other aspect deem necessary.

1.15.3 Tenure: The tenure of the legal representative is prerogative of the Country Coordinator and or the Chief Country Coordinator. However, it should not exceed five years in any given time. The legal representative can be reappointment or not after their tenure elapse.
